

290 INTERIORS: CORY SIMON'S WEBSITE

HOME PAGE COPY

[HEADER PHOTO]

[COPY]

Cohesive design. Exceptional detail. Interiors designed for living.

We merge practical beauty with durability and comfort, designing homes created for your lifestyle.

[DISCOVERY CALL BUTTON]

[HEADLINE]

Imagine living in your dream home . . .

Where every detail is highly personalized, created with practical beauty and purpose in mind — and designed for how your family wants to live their lives.

Every sophisticated room would honor your house's architectural history and showcase durable furnishings and well-crafted materials that stand the test of time. You wouldn't need to worry about investing in pieces that would wear quickly—a necessity to consider if you have children.

Imagine living in a dream home designed to inspire connections and comfortably host gatherings for family and friends, yet also feature serene, intimate spaces where you can escape from the rest of the world. Perhaps you desire a zone for self-care, designated learning and play areas for the kids or a cool space to explore your creative side.

No matter your preference or its purpose, each room in your home would evoke timeless beauty and display calming, cohesive colors and textures that warm the heart, lift the spirit and energize the soul.

. . . Welcome to 290 Eliot Interiors, a Boston area interior design firm.

[HEADLINE] About

290 Eliot Interiors is a residential interior design firm in Milton, Massachusetts, serving the Greater Boston area. Led by Principal Interior Designer and owner Cory Simon, the firm specializes in creating highly personal, beautiful and durable living spaces that evoke sophistication and practical beauty while inspiring family connections.

As a visionary and problem solver, Cory listens intently to the needs of her clients so she can transform problem areas into beautiful and practical opportunities to maximize space and realize each client's dreams of how they want their homes to look, feel and function.

"I want my clients' homes to support the way they want to live their lives, and I focus on creating spaces designed to deepen connections with the people they love," says Cory.

[READ MORE BUTTON OR LINK TO ABOUT PAGE]

[HEADLINE]

Words from Happy Clients

"My whole family has fallen in love with our home"

"Working with Cory has been better than I could have imagined. She is plan-full, organized, creative, and practical. I have two kids and a dog and wanted my house to be both beautiful and livable. I was planning a renovation project in my home that incorporated two bathrooms and several rooms. The process seemed so overwhelming for me, and I had put off starting it for years. Cory came with a vision and a plan and helped me with the process every step of the way. She helped me stretch my budget by mixing impactful investment pieces with more affordable options. She was able to both reimagine rooms from the studs out AND reinvent spaces with minimal investment by utilizing items I already owned in new ways. Cory's designs pushed my aesthetic to a more sophisticated place while always listening to and building on my personal style. I am so grateful to have had the opportunity to work with Cory, and my whole family has fallen in love with our home!" — Vanessa Foster

"Cory drew up plans that completely reimaged the space and opened our eyes to its potential."

"Cory provided invaluable assistance when we renovated our attic. Before we began, Cory drew up plans that completely reimaged the space and opened our eyes to its potential. During construction, Cory kept the project on track. She proactively identified issues, worked with the contractor to resolve them, and came up with creative solutions to unexpected problems . . . " — Josh Bone

[HEADLINE]

Featured Projects

[Include links with a button or text link below the photos that navigate to your portfolio gallery.]

[DISCOVERY CALL BUTTON]

[INSTAGRAM PHOTOS]

ABOUT PAGE

About 290 Eliot Interiors

290 Eliot Interiors is a residential interior design firm in Milton, Massachusetts, serving the Greater Boston area. Led by Principal Interior Designer and owner Cory Simon, the firm specializes in creating highly personal, beautiful and durable living spaces that evoke sophistication and practical beauty while inspiring family connections.

“I want my clients’ homes to support the way they want to live their lives, and I focus on creating spaces designed to deepen connections with the people they love,” says Cory.

Well-crafted product selections that stand the test of time

At 290 Eliot Interiors, we choose quality products that are not only comfortable and beautiful but are also durable. We prefer solid wood surfaces to MDF and fabrics and furnishings that can easily be cared for — so they hold up to small children and pets. Choosing durable products has eased the worries of clients with active children who may have reservations about investing in materials that wear too quickly.

“Cory really helped me create a living room that is both kid-friendly and feels like an adult sanctuary, which I thought was impossible,” says Maggie Fallon

Interior design inspired by architecture

Every home has a soul that needs to be honored during the design process, from the framework to the finishes. The soul of a house should not only be aesthetically pleasing but serve to lift the spirits and stimulate the senses of all who interact in the space.

By understanding the structure and character of a house, Cory makes significant selections to complement its history—from the walls, colors, patterns and textural selections to the artwork, furnishings and molding choices.

For example, Colonial interiors are characterized by grand entrance halls, polished wood floors and wainscoting and millwork applications, whereas Cape Cod interior architecture showcases light and airy interiors with muted and soft neutral color palettes and organic elements that inspire a coastal landscape.

Whether your home is a Cape, Colonial, bungalow or a contemporary home with traditional details, collaborating with you, Cory decorates and designs your interior to respect your house's architecture and historical period throughout every stage of the design process.

About Cory Simon

Cory inherited an appreciation of beautiful interiors from her mother, who frequently redecorated their family home. Since her mother was skilled in recovering upholstery, things changed often. Cory and her mother share the sentiment that a home should make you happy and serve as a haven from the outside world you love spending time in, where you can replenish your energy and reinvigorate your spirit.

Cory found her love of interior design in a 15-year career in retail merchandising. As a visual merchandising manager, among other positions, she made frequent visits to other stores to teach teams the intricacies of navigating complex design processes and how to create beautiful spaces. Cory took her expertise in and applied it to residential design, first designing her own home, then consulting on projects for friends and family before she launched 290 Eliot Interiors.

As a visionary and problem solver, Cory listens intently to the needs of her clients so she can transform problem areas into beautiful and practical opportunities to maximize space and realize each client's dreams of how they want their homes to look, feel and function. She seamlessly blends beautiful elements to form cohesive residential spaces with precision, scale and proportion.

Cory's signature style is apparent in how she mixes pattern and texture to elevate neutral color palettes, often in transitional, traditional and sophisticated coastal design environments. When she isn't designing dream homes for her clients, she enjoys traveling to new cities, shopping and spending time with family and friends.

If you're seeking a skilled interior design professional in the Greater Boston area who cares about the details, contact 290 Elliot Interiors today

SERVICES PAGE

Interior Design Services

The secret to any successful design project is a deep understanding of a client's lifestyle, as well as their goals, dreams and aspirations. This holistic approach, combined with well-defined goals, positively impacts the flow of the creative journey and elevates the client experience. Our process is thoughtfully designed to ensure that every detail is well-taken care of, from the discovery call to the big reveal and everywhere in between, ensuring your peace of mind.

Your Experience Matters

290 Eliot Interiors designs residential interiors that evoke sophistication, comfort and practical beauty, and our process is structured to ensure that every step goes as smoothly as possible. However, obstacles can surface with any great undertaking, such as a design project or renovation. For these occasions, we're here to support you and work with your contractor to help rectify potential problems, so you don't need to worry about the details.

Phase 1. Define the journey

Phase 1 starts with a kick-off meeting at your residence. We'll delve deep into your questionnaire responses so I can understand your dream home environment wish list. We'll clarify and define goals, discuss your likes and dislikes and narrow down your aesthetic if you're having trouble deciding.

During this phase, we'll view more inspiration photos of room layouts, color palettes, furnishings and materials to determine the design direction. If your project entails construction, we'll furnish you with support documents for contractor bidding.

Phase 2. Design phase

Everything uncovered in Phase 1 is implemented into a design plan during this phase. The goal is to weave together a cohesive story punctuated by surprising, unexpected moments. We'll select and source all the dreamy details, for example, beautiful and durable furniture that stands the test of time, elegant fabrics and finishes and architectural details and millwork that enhance your house's architectural history. I 'll present product samples of rich fabrics, surfaces and textures to feel between your fingers. I'll present photos for selections when samples aren't available.

You'll view elevations and floor plans that bring your dream house to life, helping you envision how your home will look and feel, and I'll provide insight into what selections cost so you can have a realistic idea of which items fit into the project scope and budget.

Phase 3. Ordering and project management

During this phase, all your selections for installation by contractors, such as cabinets, sinks, vanities, flooring and countertops will be purchased, with the exception of accessories purchased during Phase 4. We'll track and coordinate delivery shipments and resolve any issues that arise.

Collaborating with your contractor, we draft a contractor guide and do periodic site visits to ensure they execute design directives to your exact specifications. If any installation or design issues arise, we provide peace of mind by stepping in and assisting with problem-solving and working with your contractor to find the best solutions.

As project managers, we'll track expenses, manage the budget, record invoices and receipts, keep tabs on your budget and receive regular status updates throughout your project.

Phase 4. Final touches and the big reveal

It's time to put the final touches on your dream house. During this phase, I'll hand-select beautiful accessories and sophisticated decor that coordinates with your aesthetic, reflects your style and adds personality to your home. We'll start by creating an inventory of the accessories you already own—artwork, souvenirs from your travels, family photos and heirlooms or perhaps a couple of air-purifying plants.

Next, I'll hand-select and purchase additional accessories you love that complement your decor style and manage the delivery and receiving. With so many beautiful accessories placed around your home on install day, you'll feel like you've moved to an entirely new home designed exclusively for you.

Of course, we'll be onsite to ensure everything comes together perfectly without a hitch for the big reveal—and if we need to resolve any deficiencies or offer post-install design support, we've got you covered.

Interested in learning more? Schedule a complimentary discovery call to start the conversation.

